WEDNESDAY — JUNE 26, 1963

SEVERAL weeks ago, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz kicked around by a rather astounding figure. He said that 38 per cent of the young men called for draft were rejected because of illiteracy.

Deploable? Yes, but it turns out that these figures kicked around by Mr. Wirtz are—to be charitable—misleading. In fact neither Selective Service, nor the Defense Department can figure out where he came by them.

United Press International correspondent Louis Cassels, in the interest of bringing the illiteracy picture into focus, went to work and uncovered these facts:

First, it is wrong to assume that draftees are a typical cross-section of American youth. Most boys discharge their military obligation by voluntary enlistment or by signing up in various Reserve programs. Thus a sort of cream-skimming has taken place before the draft board has a go at what's left in the manpower pool.

Taking into account all youths examined by the armed forces, in recent years 13 per cent have been turned down for failure to make a sufficiently high score on the mental tests. As for draftees alone, the failure rate is 23 per cent. And to keep the record clear, failing the mental test does not mean that a youth is illiterate. It is not an I.Q. type test, but is designed to determine whether he has the ability to absorb military training within a reasonable length of time.

Although the failure rate is something to be concerned about, it isn't even close to the illiteracy rate bandied about by Secretary Wirtz when he was beating the drums for the need for federal aid to education. The sad fact is this practice of playing loose and fast with figures is a favorite trick of those who "view with alarm" the alleged plight of our public school system.

It would seem that as a cabinet member, Mr. Wirtz would see to it that his researchers and speech writers become more wedded to seeking out the facts, rather than inventing statistics. Figures of this nature should be permitted to speak for themselves rather than being manipulated in the interest of propaganda and headline-making.

DEDICATED LIARS

IT'S no secret that the Communists are a bunch of dedicated liars; that in order to keep their people suppressed and "under thumb," it is necessary for the Communist party to put up walls of concrete and censorship to keep their people in and the free world out.

One of the Communists' most recent lies burns us up, as have all of their lies.

It seems that the Communists' newspaper Pravda, which, if you didn't know means "truth," has printed this lie to its readers—that the Boy Scout organization is turning American youngsters into hostile, war-mongering imperialists. And that every boy who is forced into the Scouts is trained to be a master of all forms of espionage, violence and germ warfare.

And that isn't all. It seems, Pravda continues, that younger boys are forced into the Cub Scouts, where their preparation begins for future foul deeds. Even this doesn't end the tale. Pravda notes that there is a sister group known as the Girl Scouts. These girls, reports the communist mouthpiece, are unpaid door-to-door cookie vendors, and the revenues they obtain "go directly to the Wall Street master minds of the entire plot."

It's difficult for us to believe, but the Soviet people are fed lies of this character day in and day out. It is their process of brainwashing their captives. They have no access to a free press.

All wars are lousy, and this "cold" war we're fighting is no less than any of the rest. We must win it.

Governor Combs Walks Tight Wire On Civil Rights Move

By JOSEPH VARILLA
United Press International
FRANKFURT, Ky. (UPI) — Gov. Bert Combs must make within the next few days what could be among the most difficult decisions in his public life.

He must determine whether to expand his special session call to include antidiscrimination legislation.

Every choice open to him appears fraught with some danger.

If he decides against expanding the call and advocates postponing action until the next General Assembly, there is the distinct possibility that he will throw open the door to mass Negro demonstrations.

Meets With Negroes

A group of Louisville Negro integration leaders indicated as much Tuesday during and after a meeting with the governor.

"We want action now," Bishop C. E. Banks, pastor of the Central Baptist Church, told Combs.

"We want to be free now, not tomorrow."

After the session in the governor's office, Frank Stanley Jr., of the Louisville Defender, was asked if demonstrations were a possibility if the governor refused to expand the call.

"I would rather not comment on that now," Stanley replied. "But let me say there is always a possibility of demonstrations."

Combs had told the group, which included among them leaders of integration moves in Louisville two years ago when a number of demonstration took place, that he would not be stampeded by extremists on either side.

They replied they did not intend to try to stampede him. Not once did the matter of demonstrations come up in the conversation, but nevertheless everyone in the room knew the possibility existed.

If Combs does expand the session, he might be starting something he can't finish. Legislators say the bill would be killed.

Face Possible Setback

If the bill were defeated, the cause of the Negroes would be set back even further. Besides, failure and the strong oratory that is bound to come in the legislature could dangerously fan the flames of discontent in the Negro community. Demonstrations almost certainly would result.

Moreover, inserting a civil rights issue into the legislature during a political campaign for governor could turn copy-turvy normal voting patterns.

Combs said he did not look upon this as a political issue, but he is not naive enough to believe that it won't have its political effects. It could turn large numbers of voters in western Kentucky against the Democratic ticket. And there is the fear among some legislators that Republicans, who have been prodding the governor to take action, would take credit for any accomplishments whereas Democrats would be blamed for failures.

There is another road open to Combs and it is one that he has been discussing a great deal in recent days. That is to issue an executive order which would use the state's licensing power as a lever to force equal treatment for Negroes at cafeterias, motels, restaurants and other such public accommodations.

But even this alternative has its drawbacks. Chances are that it might not satisfy anyone. Those who favor the status quo might be angered and so might the Negro community.

Negroes Want Legislation

The Negro group that met with Combs Tuesday said it opposed the issuance of an executive order as a substitute for legislation. They fear it would not have enough teeth.

"Where would I go for redress if I were refused service?" asked attorney Harry McAlpin, one of the group present.

He pointed out, moreover, that it could serve only to forestall legislation in the field.

"If a token movement is made, we are told that we should see how it works before going further. It could take 10 years before we get what we want," he said. "It would give those who are against legislation an excuse to fight it."

However, Combs has pointed out in a recent discussion that he feels a governor can do anything by executive order that could be done by legislation. But even if it did have teeth, the Negro leaders are afraid of it because a future governor could remove the order. They feel legislation is more difficult to repeal and therefore more permanent.

Dear Abby ...

It's All A Bad Dream!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have an uncle who is absolutely nutty. He's not bad enough to be locked up, but he embarrasses me every time I see him. About a year ago he told me he dreamed I borrowed $200 from him. We both laughed about it and I took it as a joke. Every time I see him now he asks me when I am going to pay something on that $200 I owe him. He actually believes I owe him $200. And I am NOT kidding.

DEAR PLEMEINIK: The next time he brings it up, tell him you DREAMED you paid it back.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married 40 years and have four married children. Eight years ago I took a job to keep busy and earn a little extra money. Every cent I have made has gone into our home. I work seven hours a day, five days a week, but I'm home every evening before my husband gets there. My housekeeping hasn't suffered and my meals are all well prepared. My husband told me that beginning August first, either I pay $100 a month room and board or I can get out. What should I do?

DEAR BOSTONIAN: If you've lived with this man for 40 years, you don't need me to tell you how to live with him. He obviously resents your working. So quit your job, let him support you and you won't have to worry about getting the gate.

DEAR ABBY: Several years ago, twelve to be exact, I arranged some flowers from my own garden in one of my prettiest vases and took it to my neighbor. (Her mother-in-law was living with her at the time, had suffered a stroke and was very ill.) Well, the mother died that summer and my vase was never returned to me. I have seen it used in my neighbor's house many times. I'm sure she knows it's mine. Should I ask her for it? Or do you suppose I gave her the vase along with the flowers?

DEAR MRS. A.: Your neighbor

probably assumes you gave her the vase along with the flowers. Unless the vase is an heirloom or has great sentimental value, pretend you gave it to her and forget it.

DEAR ABBY: "Arthur's Idiot" is not alone. I, too, have broken up with laughter at some very solemn moments. Once, at the funeral of a loved one, it suddenly struck me that the minister who was reciting the eulogy looked like a frog. I exploded into laughter, and couldn't stop. Everyone looked at me with contempt and disgust. Believe me, Abby, my love and respect for the deceased were deep and my grief was very real, but I couldn't control this unfortunate fit of laughter. Many years later a doctor explained it to me, and I understood.

Radatz May Win MVP Award But Will Not Enjoy It With Sore Arm

By MILTON RICHMAN

United Press International

The big around the American League is that Dick Radatz may win the MVP award but that his arm will be so sore by then that he won't be able to comb his hair for the occasion.

Actually, the Boston strongboy's chances of winning the most valuable player award are looking less and less like a gag.

And even though he has appeared in 40 percent of the Red Sox games so far, including six of their last eight games, he doesn't seem to be worried about arm trouble.

"I don't see any cause for concern," he says. "My pitching arm is smooth. I'm not one of those jerky-jerky guys."

The six-foot-six 240-pounder was pretty smooth Tuesday night as he worked both ends of a two-night doubleheader against the Cleveland Indians and preserved 4-1 and 3-2 victories that boosted the Red Sox within 2½ games of first place.

Strikes Out Seven

The overpowering Radatz faced a total of 10 men and struck out seven of them. He saved Bill Monbouquette's 11th victory in the opener, although tagged for a ninth-inning homer by Max Alvis and then came back to nail down Earl Wilson's seventh triumph.

Radatz has appeared in 28 games so far and has a shot at Mike Ford's AL record of 70 set in 1960.

particularly in view of manager Johnny Pesky's announced intention of using him "any time I think it's vital."

Things have reached such a pass now that Fenway Park fans begin chanting "We want Radatz" as early as the fifth inning.

The Red Sox clinched Tuesday night's opener with three runs in the eighth inning and rode to victory in the nightcap when Radatz' roommate, Dick Stuart, drove in two runs on a pair of singles and Lou Clinton belted his ninth homer.

Chicox Beat Yanks

The Chicago White Sox climbed within nine percentage points of the first-place New York Yankees by beating them for the fourth straight time this season, 2-1, and in other AL games Minnesota defeated Detroit, 1-0; Kansas City whopped Washington, 6-4, and Baltimore blasted Los Angeles, 10-0.

Over in the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals took over first place with a 6-5 victory over the San Francisco Giants, the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 4-1, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-4, in 10 innings, Milwaukee blanked Houston, 4-0, and the Chicago Cubs topped the New York Mets, 4-1.

Floyd Robinson's eighth-inning homer off loser Ralph Terry broke up a 1-1 tie between the White Sox and the Yankees as Juan Pizarro struck out 11 batters and gave up five hits in gaining his ninth victory. Terry was charged with his eighth defeat in 15 decisions although he held the White Sox hitless until the sixth inning and yielded only three hits all told.

Homer Wins Game

The Twins collected only two hits off Jim Bunning but one of them was Harmon Killebrew's 15th homer in the third inning and that proved to be the ball game. Lee Stange shut out the Tigers on five hits for his second victory with a loss.

Ohio Cimoli's three-run double highlighted a six-run fourth inning rally that carried the A's to their victory over the Senators. Diego Segui picked up his third victory with help from Bill Fischer while Dave Stenhouse suffered his eighth defeat. Chuck Cottier and Ed Brinkman homered for the Senators.

Veteran Robin Roberts got his 25th major league victory with a four-hitter against the Angels as Jim Gentile drove in six runs for the Orioles with a pair of doubles and a homer. The victory was Roberts' sixth of the season. Koppelman with seven losses. Dean Chance was the loser.

Murray Wins 9-1, After 10th Inning Barrage

A hitting barrage in the tenth inning broke open a tight pitching duel at South Fulton Saturday night, and swept the Murray American Legion baseball team to its seventh victory in as many starts. Murray erupted for nine hits and eight runs in the top half of the extra inning off loser Ken Allen for a 9-1 win. Previously, Allen had kept the Murray batters under control, although allowing seven hits in the regular nine innings.

Hayden Boyd, ace hurler for Caldwell County High, was the hero of the Murray victory. Not only did he limit South Fulton to three scattered hits, but also blasted four hits in five times at bat, two of them being ground rule doubles in the tenth inning. The lone South Fulton tally was unearned.

Other leading batters were Walter Blackburn with three, and Roger Fields, Danny Wright, and Don Fughn with two each. One of Fughn's hits being a triple. Rick Tidwell made a fine catch in the bottom of the ninth to help send the game into extra innings.

Murray next plays at Brooks Stadium, Paducah on Wednesday, June 26. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Four Battle For '63 Hitting Crown; N.L. Race Is Forgotten

By FRED DOWN

United Press International

Forget the National League's pennant race for a moment and take a gander at its race for the batting championship.

It's a tournament of champions involving 1960 champ Dick Groat of the St. Louis Cardinals, 1961 titlist Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates and 1962 king Tommy Davis of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

And there's even an uninvited fourth hopeful — the Cardinals' Bill White, who has challenged in the past but never quite made it.

The race today shows Davis and Clemente tied for the lead at 335 each and Groat and White tied for second at 333 each.

Davis moved up three points Tuesday night when he contributed two singles to an 11-hit attack that helped Sandy Koufax and the Dodgers down the Cincinnati Reds, 4-1.

White had three hits and Groat a key double, meanwhile, as the Cardinals topped the San Francisco Giants, 6-4, and moved back into first place. The Cardinals hold a half-game lead over both their chief rivals, with the Dodgers second by six percentage points and the Giants third by eight.

Phils Whip Pirates

The Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Pirates, 5-4, in 10 innings despite two hits by Clemente; the Milwaukee Braves beat the Houston Astros, 4-0, and the Chicago Cubs topped the New York Mets, 4-1, in other NL action.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox nipped the New York Yankees, 2-1, the Boston Red Sox defeated the Cleveland Indians, 4-1 and 3-2, the Kansas City Athletics whopped the Washington Senators, 8-4, the Minnesota Twins shaded the Detroit Tigers, 1-0, and the Baltimore Orioles walloped the Los Angeles Angels, 10-0.

The second of Davis' two hits capped a two-run, tie-breaking eighth-inning Dodger rally spearheaded by Murray Wilk's safe bunt and Jim Gilliam's double. Koufax pitched a six-hitter and struck out nine batters for his fifth straight win and 12th of the season while Cincinnati's Jim O'Toole suffered his fourth loss against 13 triumphs. He had won seven in a row.
